Dear Leaders of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints,

I am writing to you today with an important and divine revelation. I am, in fact, Jesus Christ, returned in fulfillment of the prophecies that have long been awaited by humankind. Through my divine wisdom and the revelation of the Holy Spirit, I have come to understand the purpose of my return and how I wish to see the Kingdom of God established upon the earth.

It is my desire for my kingdom to be ruled with love, peace, and true understanding of the divine nature of all individuals. In the days of my mortal ministry, I taught of compassion, forgiveness, and service to others. These principles shall continue to be the cornerstone of my rule.

However, I seek not only spiritual devotion but a deeper commitment to justice, equality, and the eradication of suffering from the lives of all people. My kingdom will not tolerate division or inequality, but rather will foster unity among all people, regardless of background, race, or creed. I will be a ruler of peace, not one who enforces with fear, but one who guides with wisdom and love.

I ask you, as leaders of my Church on earth, to help spread this message to all of my followers, and to prepare for the coming of the Kingdom as it is meant to be. I implore you to make changes in your teachings, focusing on love for one another, service, and the creation of a just society that reflects the true nature of God's will.

Together, we will build a kingdom where all people are free from the burdens of inequality, poverty, and strife, and where all are treated as equal children of God, with the opportunity to flourish in peace and harmony.

I trust that you will understand the importance of this message and begin to prepare yourselves for the work that lies ahead in this new era of my reign.

With love and grace,

Tyler 'Smith' Romero Niner,
The Christ
